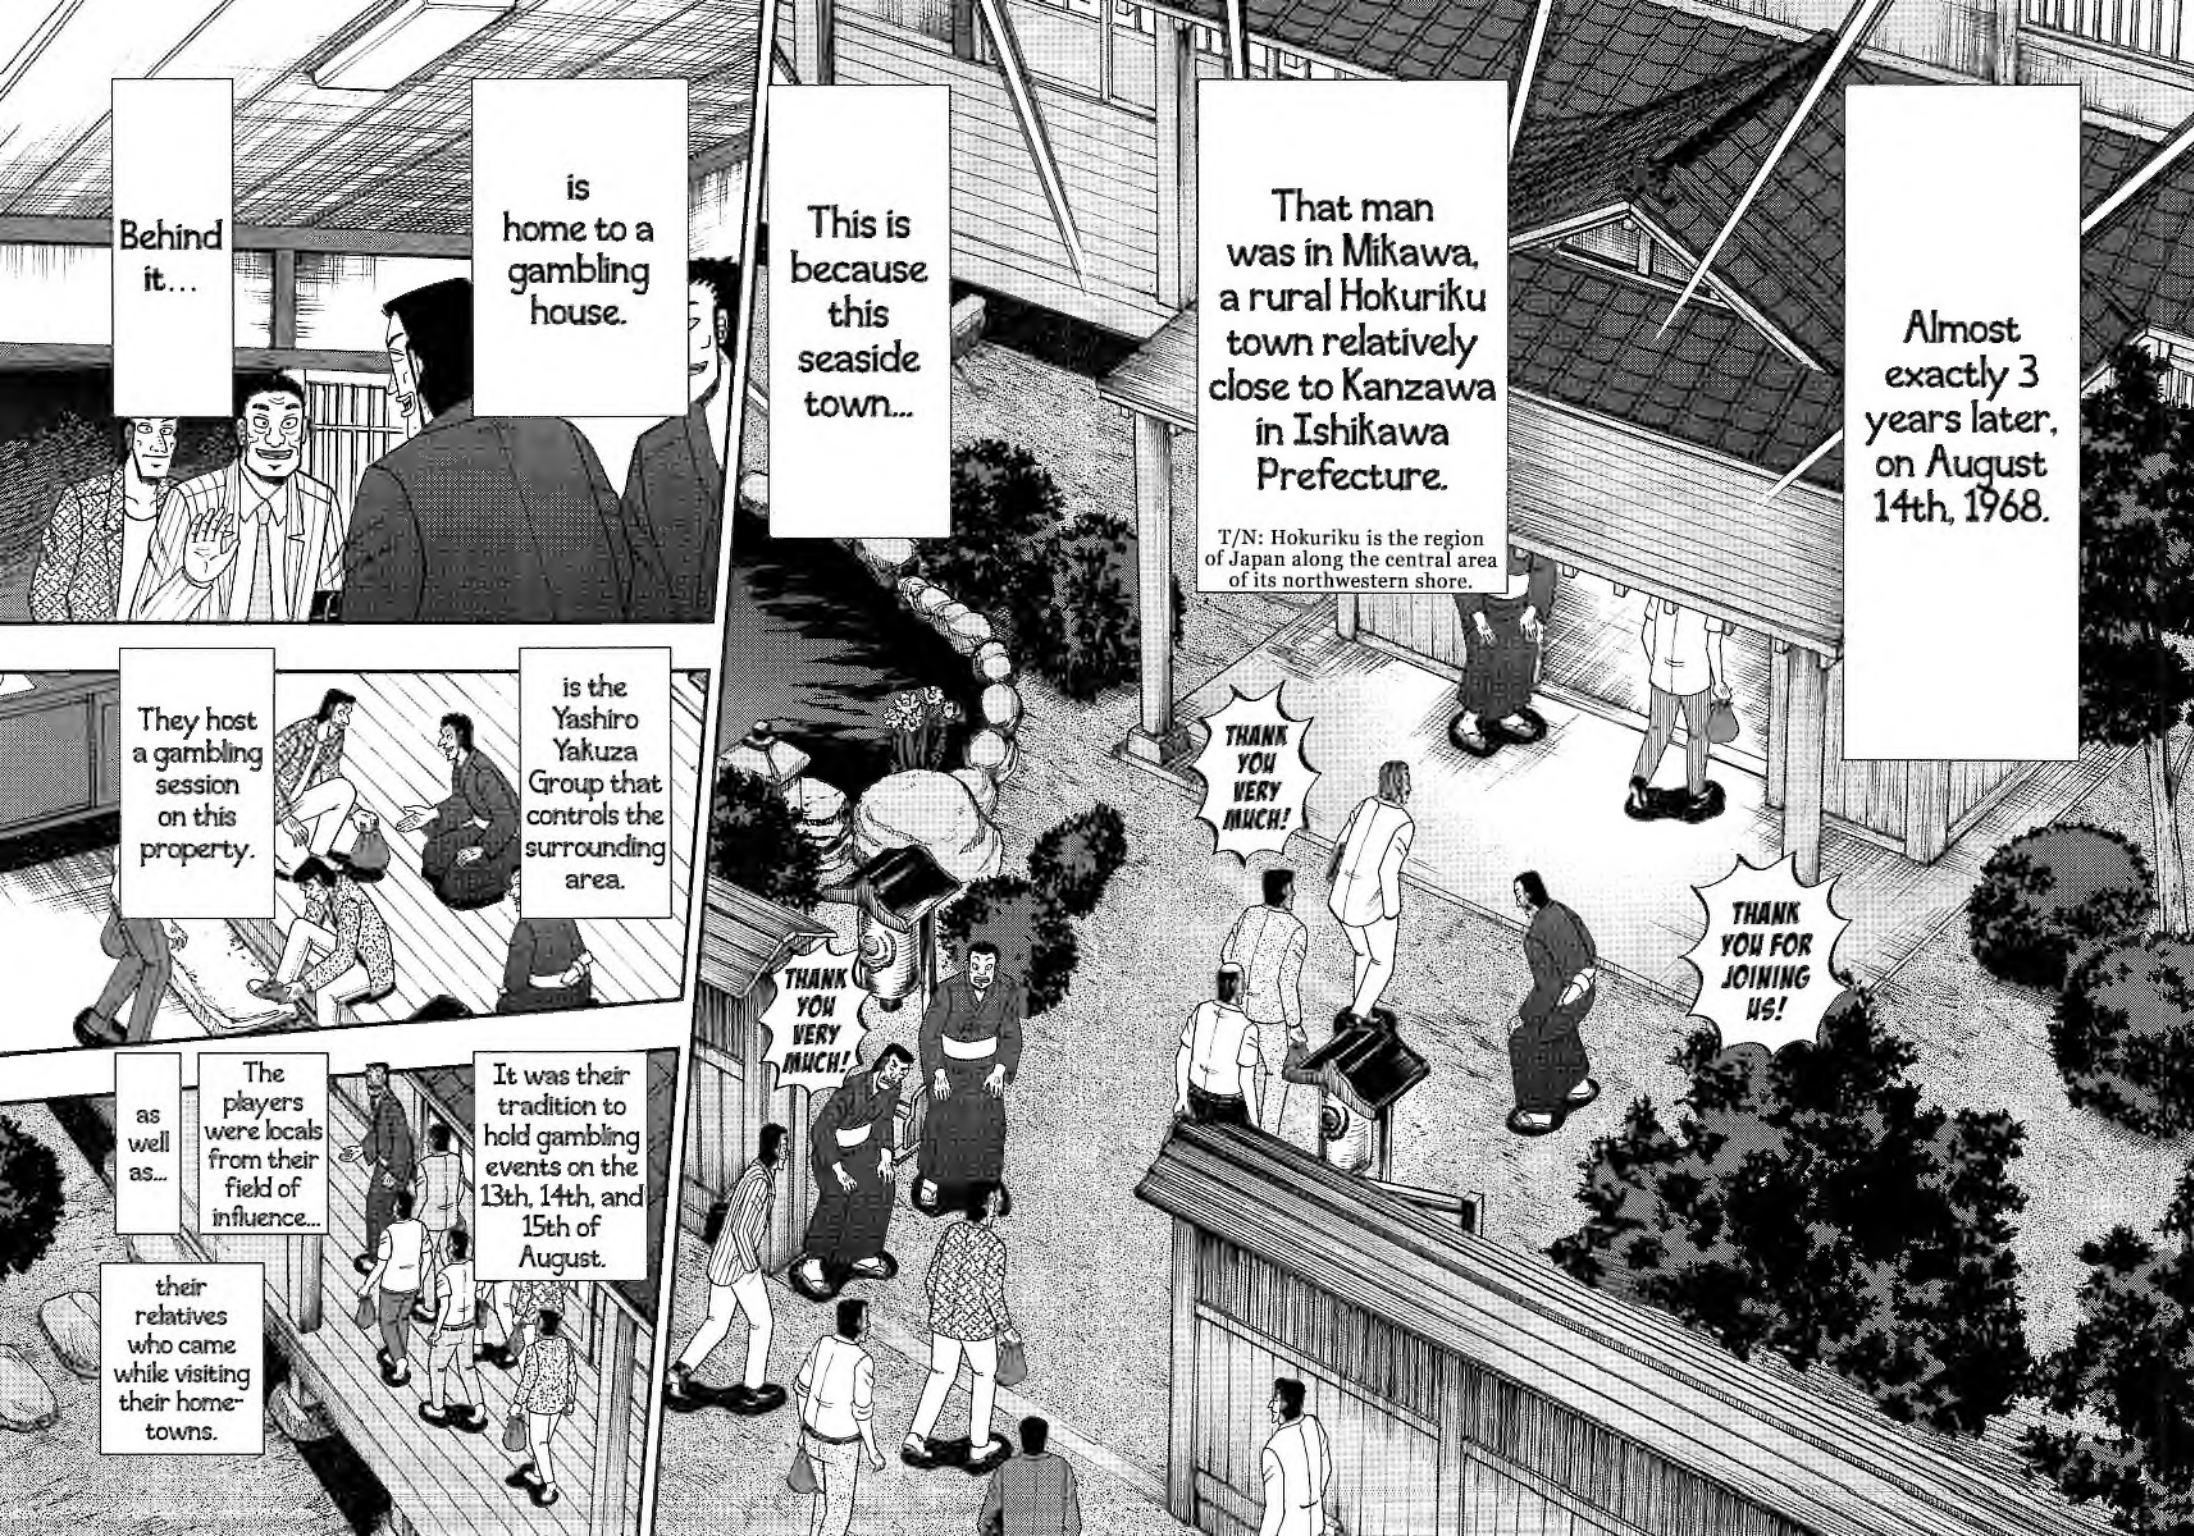
That death battle...

of black magic!

That night...

was 3 years ago.



Almost exactly 3 years later, on August 14th, 1968.
That man was in Mikawa, a rural Hokuriku town relatively close to Kanzawa in Ishikawa Prefecture.
T/N: Hokuriku is the region of Japan along the central area of its northwestern shore.
This is because this seaside town...
THANK YOU VERY MUCH!
THANK YOU FOR JOINING US!
THANK YOU VERY MUCH!
Behind it... is home to a gambling house.
They host a gambling session on this property.
is the Yashiro Yakuza Group that controls the surrounding area.
It was their tradition to hold gambling events on the 13th, 14th, and 15th of August.
The players were locals from their field of influence... as well as...
their relatives who came while visiting their home-towns.

the vendors at summer festivals...
those 3 things...

These special gambling events...
From the Yashiro group's perspective...

These three days of gambling in particular... were their three temporary modes of income in the summer.

Their gamble of choice...

were a lucrative source of funds for the group.

was the beautiful Japanese original...

In Tehon-biki...
PLACE YOUR BETS!
TEHONBIKI!
T/N: The name of this game is impossible to translate because the original meaning has been lost to time. Tehon can mean "Copybook", "Model", or "Pattern" and Biki is a form of Hiki, which can mean lots of things from drawing a tile/-card to pulling something to playing an instrument. I imagine it's a double meaning of some sort but your guess is as good as mine.
IT'S IN!
ALL RIGHT, IT'S IN!
The Dou picks up the six Kurifuda...
T/N: "Dou" is short for "Doumoto", bookmaker, and refers to the dealer. Kurifuda means "Shuffling Cards", and they are in order from 6 to 1, left to right here.
T/N: "Kamishita" means "Paper Under". It doesn't describe the cloth used to conceal the Kurifuda, but rather that there is money (or paper) riding on what is under the cloth.
The gam-ble... and puts that deck beneath the Kamishita selects one arbi-trarily, moves it to the top of the deck...
PLACE YOUR BETS!
PLACE YOUR BETS!
PLACE YOUR BETS!
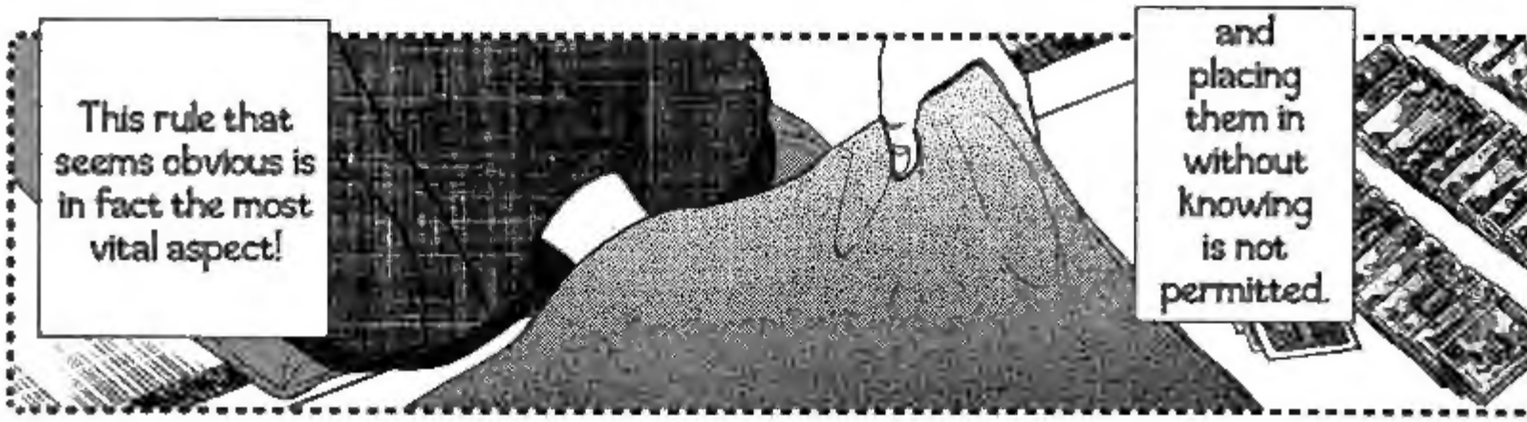
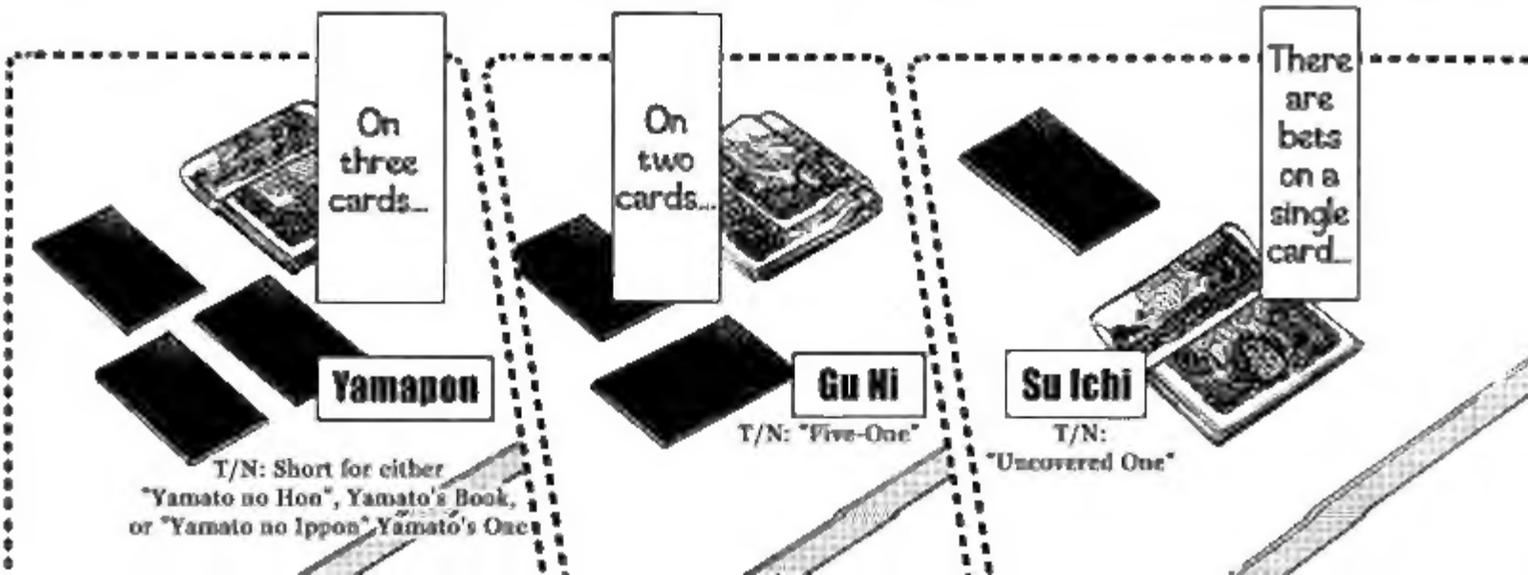
The selling point of this game... is of betting on what that chosen card is!

In other words, not properly keeping track of the cards while they are out of view...
he is putting into the Kamishita.
is that the Dou knows exactly which Kurifuda...

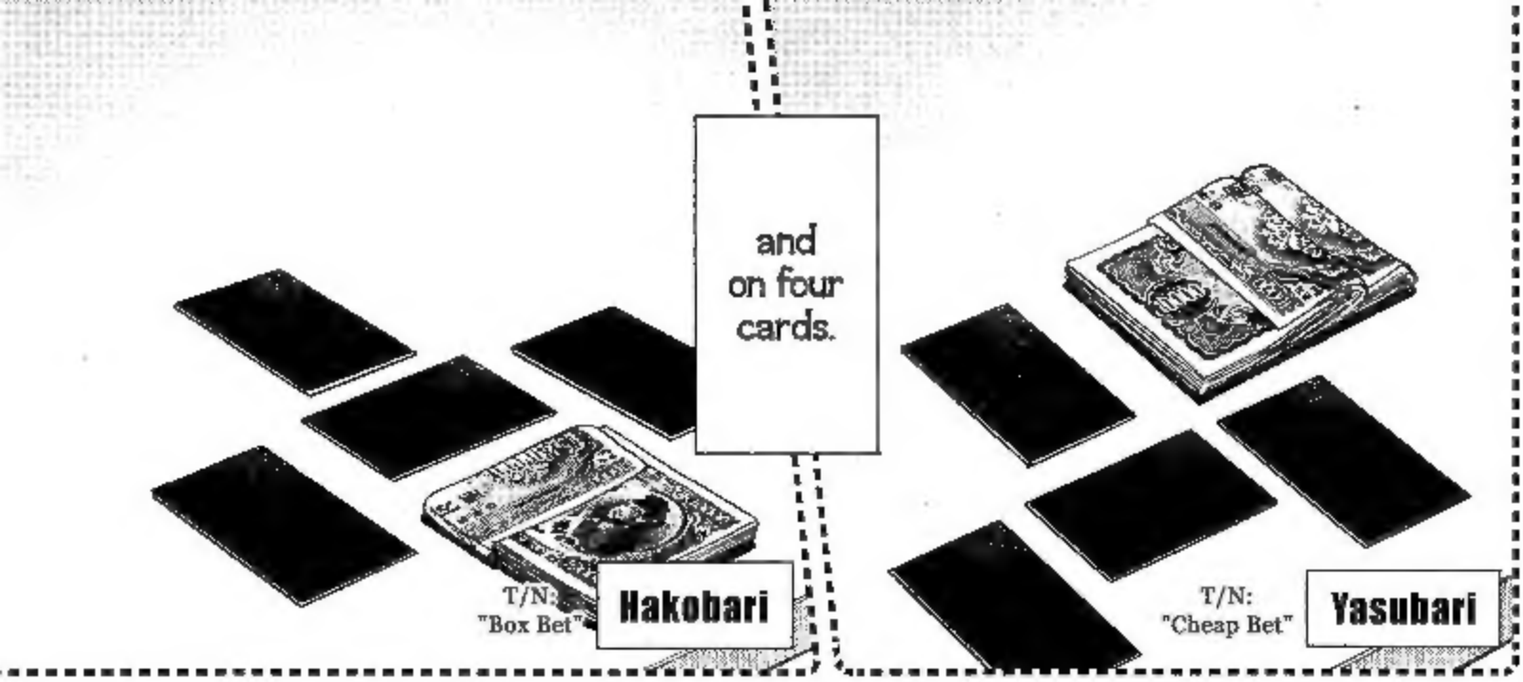


This rule that seems obvious is in fact the most vital aspect!
and placing them in without knowing is not permitted.

There are numerous ways to place a bet.



On three cards...
Yamapon
T/N: Short for either "Yamato no Hon", Yamato's Book, or "Yamato no Ippon", Yamato's One
On two cards...
Gu Ni
T/N: "Five-One"
There are bets on a single card...
Su Ichi
T/N: "Uncovered One"



and on four cards.
T/N: "Box Bet"
Hakobari
T/N: "Cheap Bet"
Yasubari

The players are free to choose any bet they like, but...
ALL RIGHT, IT'S IN! IT'S IN!

by and large...

The reason... place 4-card bets!

everyone makes the 4-card bets, which have the highest chance of getting a card right.

NO MORE BETS!

So in order to enjoy themselves for longer...

is that the amount at stake is so high.

Furthermore...

NO MORE BETS!

The Minimum Bet is 100,000 Yen

They are akin to telling the Gou...

are seen as disrespectful.

those bets on precise cards...

or two-card bet...

A one-card bet...

In Tehonbiki...

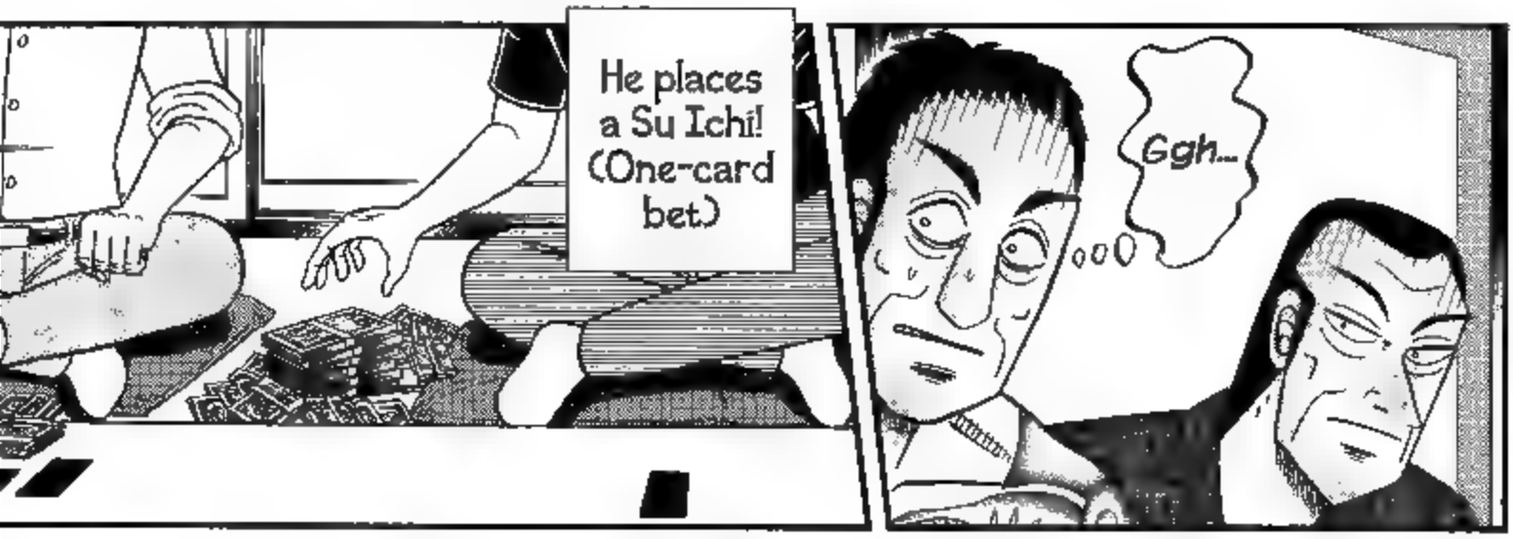
But...

チラ…

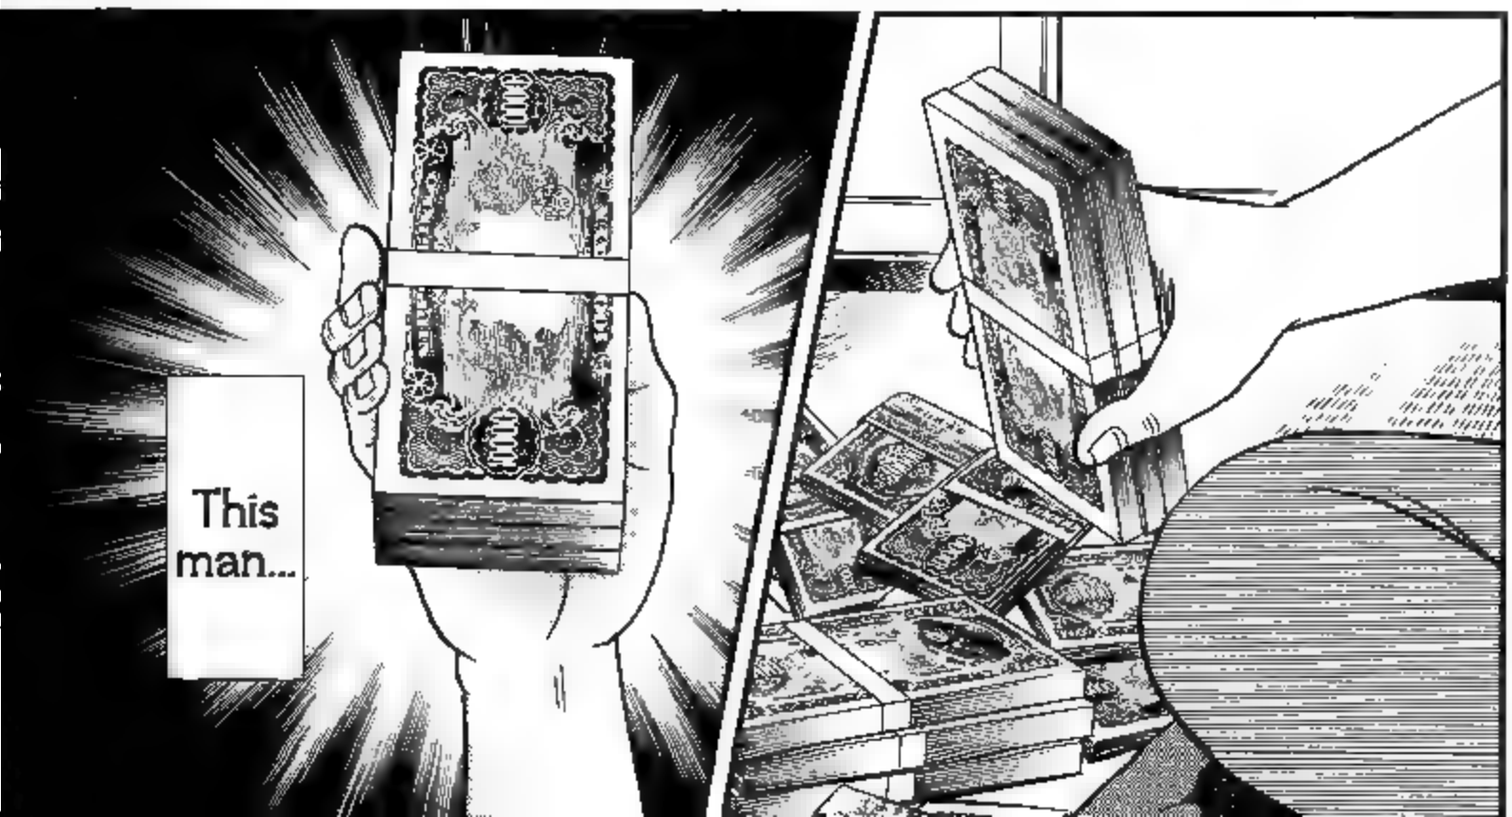
チラ…

that you are looking to start a fight.

There is a man who does not seem to care!



He places a Su Ichi! (One-card bet.)
Ggh...



This man...

Akagi has no concern for such things!

Every bet he has made ...

is a Su Ichi!

GO AHEAD
THE ONE WITH THE SU ICHI.
ON THAT AKAGI.
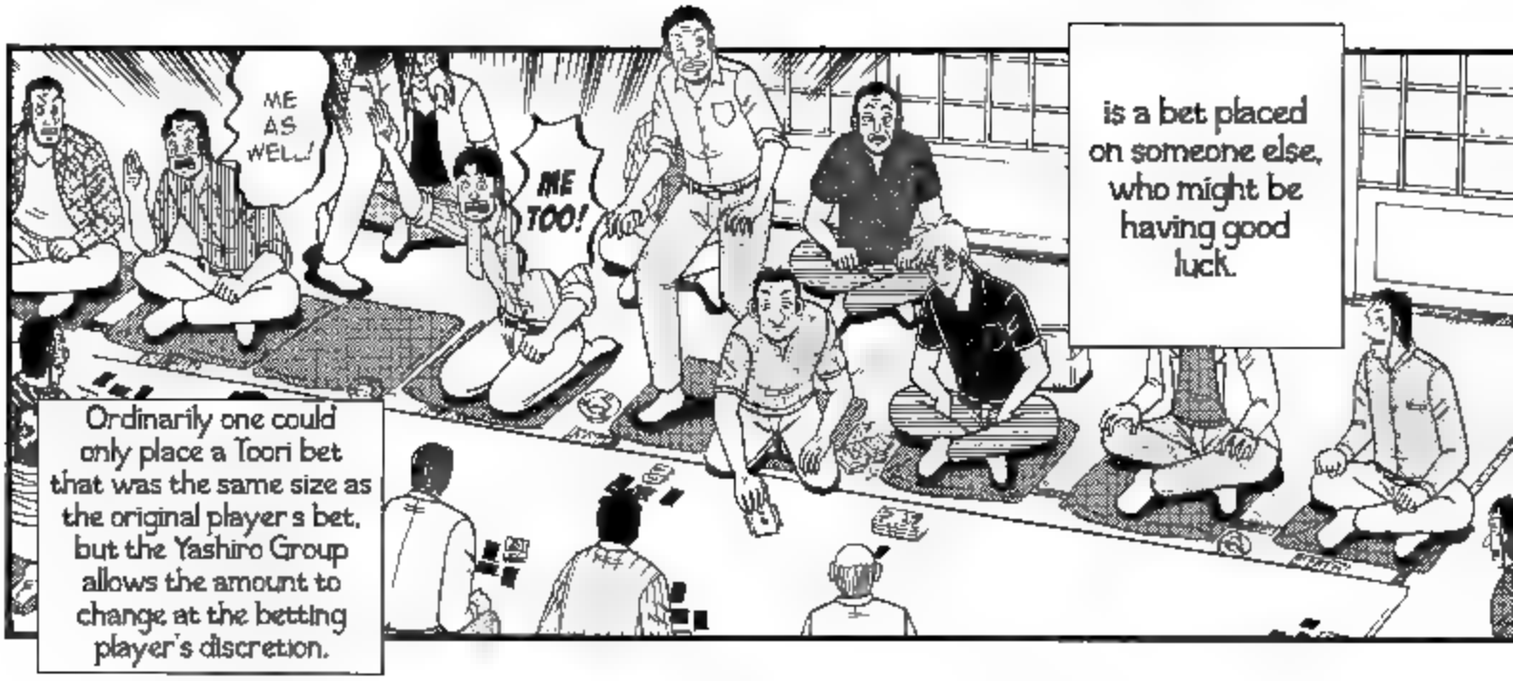
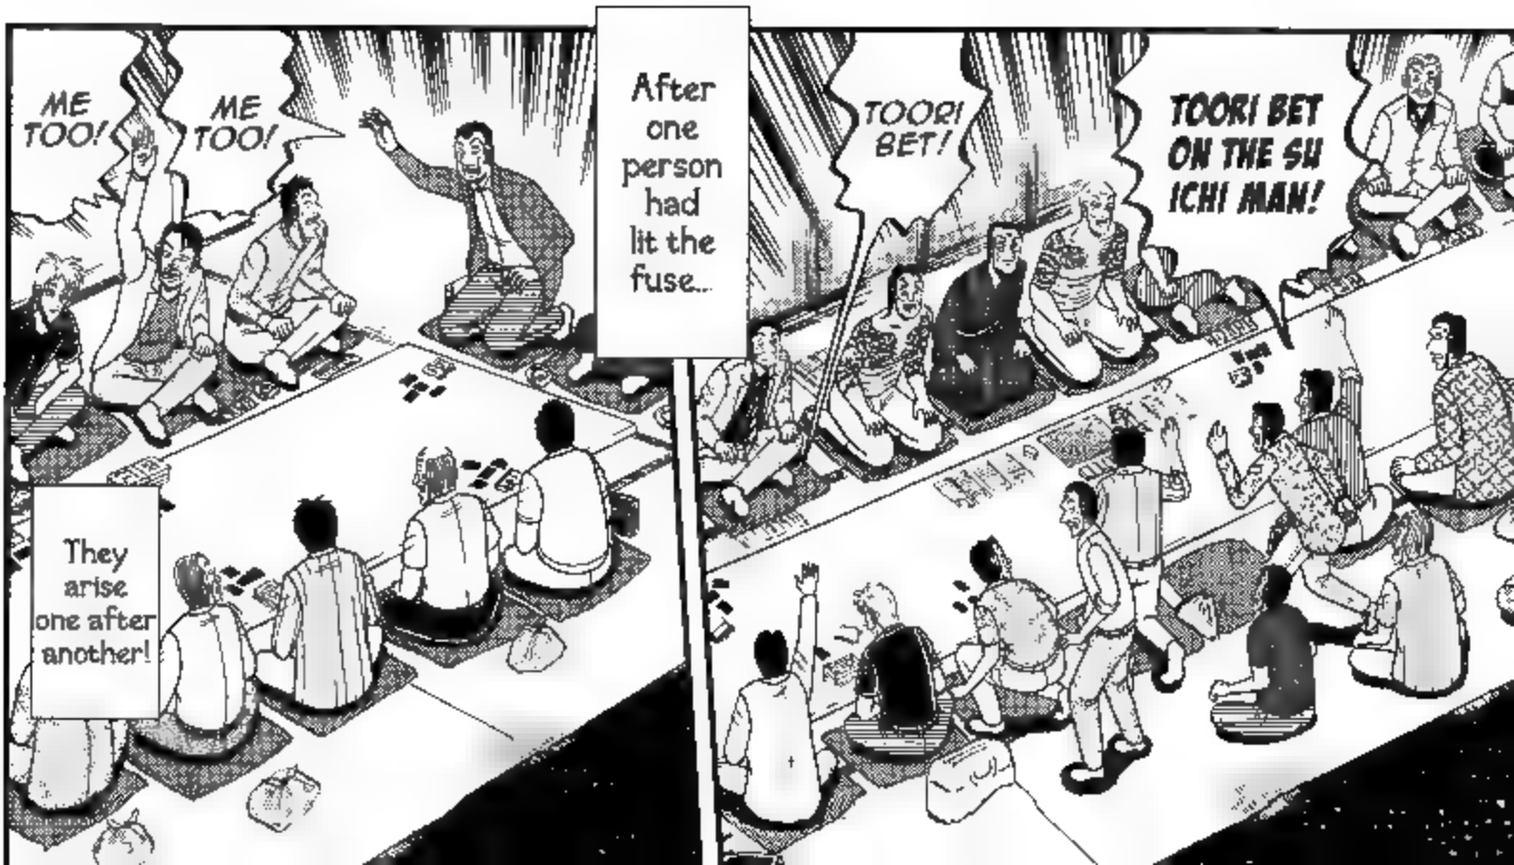
A "Toori" (through) bet...



ME AS WELL!
ME TOO!
is a bet placed on someone else, who might be having good luck.
Ordinarily one could only place a Toori bet that was the same size as the original player's bet, but the Yashiro Group allows the amount to change at the betting player's discretion.



ME TOO!
ME TOO!
After one person had lit the fuse...
TOORI BET!
TOORI BET ON THE SU ICHI MAN!
They arise one after another!

And not without reason!
People wanting to bet on Akagi jump from their seats!
ME TOO!
ON THE SU ICHI MAN!
ON THE SU ICHI MAN!
Akagi had made 10 Su Ichi bets... and half of them had paid off for him.
T/N Winning a Su Ichi bet pays 4-5 times what you bet
And not only that, they were all large bets of at least a million yen!
Those who gambled next to him and saw this could not help but want to join in!

The cards for the Toori bets on Akagi, and when they ran out, the lighters that replaced them!
They gather in the blink of an eye!
And with them, the money they had at stake!
Even the dullest among them could not help but feel...
They could not help but feel it.

Or perhaps, that he had caught on to something!
that there was something possessing this young man!
RE-VEAL!

Once "reveal" is declared... the Gou... must use the Memoku* just in front of the Kamishita... before revealing what he put inside it.
From the six Memoku, he picks the one that matches the card he placed in the Kamishita..

*T/N Memoku directly translates to "Eye Wood", though I'm sure the "Me" refers to the outcome of the cards in the same way it refers to the outcome of a roll of dice. The "moku" also definitely refers to the wooden slabs used to portray the result. So my translation would be "Result Slabs"

T/N If you know the 1-6 Man tiles in Mahjong, you should be able to tell that all the Memoku but the 5 resemble the same numbers in Kanji. If you can't, the current order from left to right is 2-6-3-4-5-1 さあ…

THOSE WHO DID NOT BET ON 2, PLEASE TAKE BACK YOUR CARDS!
THE WINNING CARD IS 2!
There were some who won, and some who lost.
But.. apart from Akagi, they were all small bets.
All the players indicate this.
For the house, these bets were not an issue.
The question...

さわ was here!
With Akagi!
Akagi's bet!
In reality...
I'M COUNTING ON YOU!
I WENT AND BET EVERYTHING I HAD!
PLEASE COME ONNN!

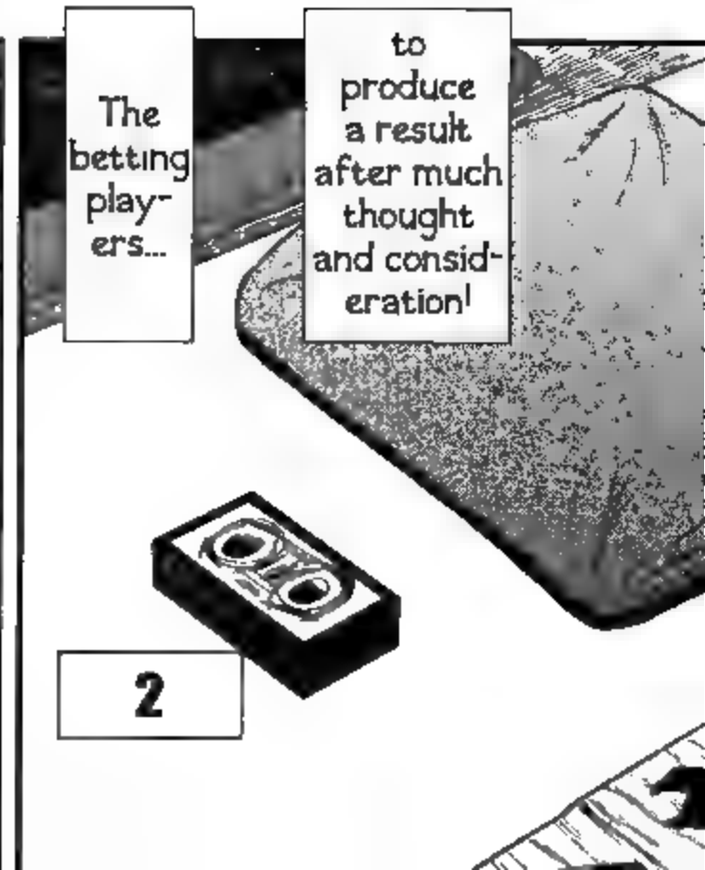
Indeed...
A battle of psychological warfare between their very beings!
This game is a one-on-one match between Akagi and the Gou!

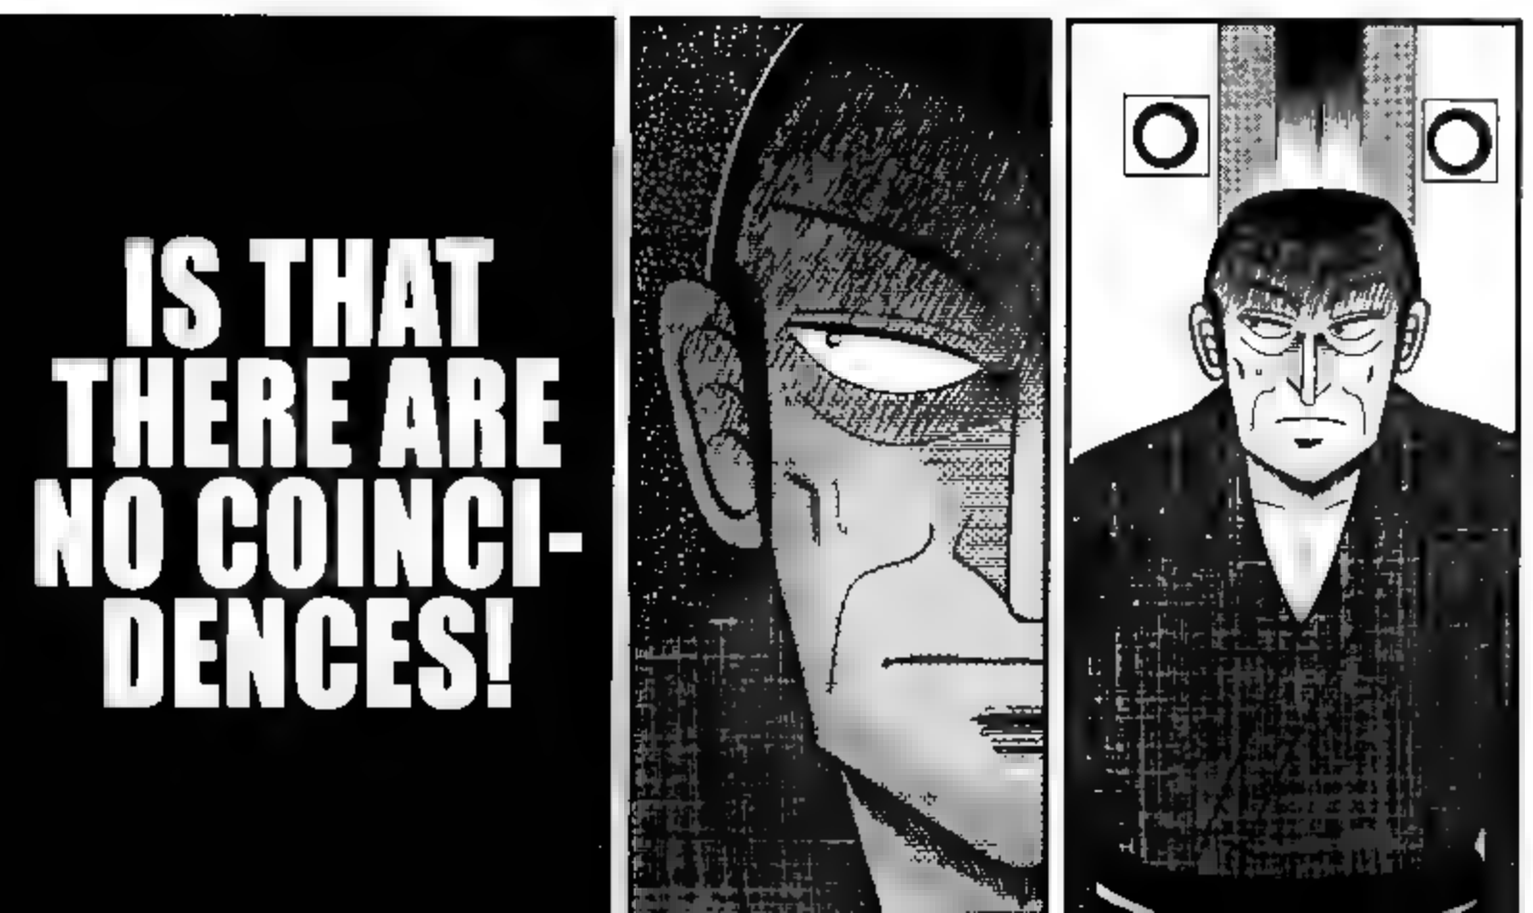
is one where the Gou must use all the strength of his spirit.
The game of Tehon-biki...

then must use the same level...
of thought and consider-ation...



The betting play-ers...
to produce a result after much thought and consid-eration!
2

A gamble of the two sides carving out their very souls!
to try and reach the same card!
of this gamble...
The most terrifying aspect...



IS THAT THERE ARE NO COINCI-DENCES!

There are none!
No coinci-dences, and no acci-dents!

Those with perceptive minds can typically win!

They can guess correctly!

2

WHOA-AAA!

Ah?

2! IT'S A 2!

WOW! WOWW WWW!
HE GOT IT! HE GOT ANOTHER SU ICHI RIGHT!
YEAHHH HHHH!
Ggh!
Merci-less!

A cruel gamble!
I'M PROFITING NOW!
HE DID IT! HE DID IT!
YEAHHHH!
Yet, that is precisely why...
Simple, yet extreme!
it is so beautiful!
The gamble of devils!
Tehon-biki...
